FACULTY

THE HEADMASTER

As chief administrator, the Headmaster performs countless duties, making the decisions essential to the school's operation. But the Headmaster is most of all a leader, leading by his own example. Whether officiating at the Parent's Day banquet, coaching on the Hockey rink, or speaking personally with one of us, you, Mr. Choukas, exemplified personal qualities which have left a lasting impression on all of us. We extend our deepest appreciation for all that you and Mrs. Choukas have done.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — A bare majority of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of violence said today that massive civil disobedience, even the nonviolent kind inspired by Gandhi and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., could lead to anarchy in the United States.

VA Observes Moratorium

October 15 almost caught the student body unawares. Many who were worried about the war wondered what they could do (or should do) previous to M-day, and on the morning of the 14th the Headmaster, saying that a number of students had asked him what the school would allow in the way of war protest, presented a policy statement which said that the administration took no position but that it "welcomed and encouraged individual expression of concern" with our present policies in Vietnam. It concluded that no "disruption of regularly scheduled activities (was) envisioned."

Observations of the Moratorium at VA were varied. Planning meetings were called the week before, and were generally poorly attended. It is impossible to report what sort of decisions were made on private bases throughout the school, but it was not until the night of the 14th that any group action was taken. On that night WTVA, the school radio station, taped a discussion of the war in Vietnam. Participating were Mr. Lucy, Hobie Harmon, Carl Banyard, Harry Huberth, Mr. MacMillin, Bob Carroll, John Lehman, and Mr. Butterworth.

Acting as interviewer and moderator was Ken Watson. The tone of the debate was generally anti-war and pro-moratorium, although many different opinions were voiced.

The next morning, M-day, an undetermined number of students and faculty attended classes wearing black arm-bands, in solidarity with war protestors across the nation. At the end of the 4th period the student body and any interested faculty were invited to an anti-war rally in the amphitheatre next to Sheppardson Center. An estimated 75 students and a number of faculty members, including Mr. Choukas, were in

THE ATHLETE IS PRE-DEFINED AND THERE are continual demands that he live up to his definition. This definition and the very idea of being defined are antagonistic to much of what Columbia is. . . . A group of people like the football team—they are singled out, and unfair demands are made upon them. . . . They don't even make their own decisions," John Gormley, captain of the lightweight crew, reflects with many words. "Crew occurs with such killing irregularity that everything else orbits around it. It builds up one aspect of your self-realization but limits all other aspects. Athletics draw you out of the mainstream at Columbia . . . you become almost schizoid. This happens to a lot of people."

The Rise of Roman's Empire

One Sunday afternoon in 1965, late in a losing game and late in a losing year, Los Angeles Ram Quarterback Bill Munson hobbled off the field with a banged-up knee. His replacement was Roman Gabriel, then in his fourth year of spotty, second-string duty. The plays were sent in by the coach and "the boys didn't think too much of me in the huddle," Gabriel recalls. "I can't say that I blamed them. I had no idea how to read a defense." He soon became a speed reader. In the season's remaining month, Gabriel threw nine touchdown passes to account for three of the year's four victories.

HOCKEY WINS FIRST TWO

Varsity Hockey opened its 1970 schedule with a pair of victories over New Hampton and Mount Hermon.

Travelling to New Hampton with less than two weeks of practice together, the club went away with a strong 6-1 victory. Tony Lyons, Doug Dalton, and Bob Kerr each fired home two goals to account for the scoring.

Return to Myth

"We're No. 1!" The chant began in Shea Stadium's leftfield grandstand. It rolled across the box seats and into the rightfield bleachers as New York Pitcher Nolan Ryan retired one after another Atlanta batter. Then, as 53,195 Met fans rose to their feet, Ryan got Tony Gonzalez, the last Brave hitter, to ground out. The New York Mets, those surrogates of the sorely afflicted, who in seven years lost 737 games and finished a total of 288½ games out of first place, had defeat-

Speaking of Sports

New priorities have been established, and the new king of Vermont Academy sports is soccer and not football. The sport of football has declined due to a high interest in soccer, a three year old sport at VA. Credit should be given to the work done by Mr. Worsoe: he has built the team up to a real powerhouse. Such standouts as Terry Hawkridge, who could very well be the guts of

Big Man Among Men

Never in the history of pro basketball has a rookie walked on the court to such trumpeting ballyhoo. When Lew Alcindor joined the Milwaukee Bucks this fall, he was proclaimed an instant superstar, another Bill Russell or Wilt Chamberlain—or both rolled into one. At 7 ft. 1½ in., Alcindor is the tallest man in a big man's game, and his brilliance at center for U.C.L.A.—2,325 career points, three-time All-America, three national champion teams—was all on the record. How could he miss?

In years past, Alcindor might already have made a shambles of the National Basketball Association. But basketball, asked, "Why should I protect a teammate who yells 'nigger' at me."

VARSIY FOOTBALL

Burma Road, Modonna Mountain, Snow and Sweat were as much a part of this season as the football itself. This year probably marked the lightest team in the history of the school, though pound for pound each member held his own. Many people ask why a small school like V.A. plays large schools like Mt. Hermon and Deerfield. This year, like last year against Deerfield, Vermont Academy unfolded a sound defeat over the big red of Mt. Hermon. A great deal of hard work was done by the wildcats this year; the green team held the dummies willingly and we ran the play until we got it right. This was due to excellent coaching and good attitudes of players. It is unfortunate that the season ended, for the team was on a streak as they finished the season with a 4-3 record.

VARSITY SOCCER

Our season was somewhat strange this year. We had a good team that wanted to play soccer, but somewhere along the line the team couldn't quite put itself together; with the defense stronger than the offense, the games were rather low scoring.

The offense had trouble with consistency the latter part of the season, but when it was on it was sweet. With a line of Schreiner, Clark, Beers, Zimicki, and Clancy, filled in constantly by Hoyes, Patterson, and Marcoulrier, and revolving around center Tom Crockett, the offense clicked with speed and finesse. The high scorer for the offense was Crockett, with ten goals.

The defense, led by myself, worked well as a unit. It was strong, aggressive, and basically had the desire to go all out. The attacking defense was led by Keating and Frazier, who played the outside halfback position, while I roved the center half. The fullbacks were Beckjord and Blanchard, filled in by Boedtker, Menz, and Borg. All of these Fullbacks had long boots, and consistently broke up the opponent's offense.

I feel that a major reason for our winning season was because no other school in New England had a goaly like Tom Villa. He was strong, tough, and rugged, with a spiritual desire to win. In many games he kept us hanging in with his skill at the goal's mouth.

The team's best games under coach Worsoe were with New Hampton (2-2), and with Winchedon, (0-0 and 1-0). Mr. Worsoe gave Vermont Academy a soccer name to live up to.

The Vermont Academy Soccer Trophy was awarded to me, I am proud to note.

Best wishes go to Billy Keating, next year's captain, for a winning season.

VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

When the season first started we looked at the future with doubt; we had a young team and had lost our top runner. We worked hard, but still lost the first two meets to Williston and Mount Hermon, two much larger schools. We finally pulled together as a team, and, instead of seven individuals competing, we became one team, each helping the other. We beat St. Paul's in a landslide, our first four runners within a minute of each other. It was this that pulled us through the rest of the season, beating Proctor, Deerfield, Bel-lows Falls, and Kimball Union. The team travelled down to the Preparatory School Championships, the Weekend before the Kimball Union meet. Ninety runners would be competing, seven from each school, in the class B. division. We had a good spirit. We warmed up, while not allowing ourselves to tense up. We were the only team that didn't watch the class A run, and also the only one that joked at the line. We won! It was the climax of the season for most of us.

The basic part of the team remains for another year, and with captains Barry Weatherbee and Bill Stedman. I am sure they will have another good season: perhaps even another first at the Prep School Championships.

VARSITY SKIING

The 1970 team can be remembered as the team of specialists, for many of VA's fine four-event men were lost with last year's graduation, and in the case of Todd Thompson, by an unfortunate ski accident. But Todd, as team captain, helped with meets and generally helped our spirits.

In Alpine, each racer had their occasional glory, but as a whole team we couldn't seem to put every thing together on a given day. Jack Fletcher, Rick Thomson, Dave Zimicki, Frank Saunders, and Charlie Fenger did great; and all except Rick will be back next year.

The Nordic team saw much improvement as the season passed. Particularly strong in jumping were Rich Clancy, Jack Fletcher, Sumner Bell, and George Frazier. The strong runners were Charlie Fenger, Rob Griffin, and Dave Zimicki, led by Steve Lyle.

We had a somewhat disappointing 9th in the Prep School Meet; however, losing only two of our top men this year, we should really make it next year.

VARSITY HOCKEY

This year's Varsity Hockey team had a great deal of talent, but somehow we couldn't mold into the outstanding club we should have been. Ice was one big reason. To maintain competitive fitness on a par with the likes of Kimball Union and Deerfield, V.A. must have an indoor rink, as these schools do.

We were strong defensively, with goalie Reed Beckjord enjoying a good season. The high scoring first line of Tony Lyons, Doug Dalton, and I led the offense.

The season's high spots were our pair of wins over Mt. Hermon, 4-1 and 3-1. The major disappointment was a 4-3 overtime loss to K.U.A. over a disputed goal.

Next year's team will have only four returning men, which might cause problems; I extend my hopes for them, and Mr. Choukas, a very worthy coach.

First Row: Goodale, Holland, Crockett, Pratt, Banyard, Eccles. Second Row: Fitzgerald, (Mgr.), Weatherbee, Watts, Keating, Holton, W. Clark, Mr. Castagner.

The Vermont Academy Varsity Basketball Team had a somewhat confused season this winter. The team started well for the first third of the season with great plays from Ward Eccles, freshman Robert Watts, Tom Crockett, Carson Pratt and Bill Goodale. Because none of the players had played with each other previously, we did have trouble putting it together in the middle of the season. Billy Keating showed great hustle on the floor, and Dave Holland supported us with great back-up play.

Barry Weatherbee, Carl Banyard and Walter Clark all contributed their abilities and work to give the team support also. The last game of the season the team really put it together and beat Mt. Hermon for the second time. Bill Goodale got 42 points, while the team broke the school scoring record. This, to us, was a tremendous ending to a benefiting season. We all extend our thanks to Coach Castagner for his fine job in leading us through the season and wish him good luck next year.

Drug Lecturer Makes Return Visit

Mr. Robert Morman, received with such great interest last year, was welcomed back Friday, October 17, for an enlightening talk and discussion about drugs and their bearing on our lives. Mr. Morman mixed a Bill Cosby-line sense of humor with open candor in a thoughtful discussion. His sense of seriousness and his youthful charisma seemed to awaken the student body and stimulate much thought and discussion, both after his lecture and back in the dorms afterwards.

He was the first in a line of distinguished people who will visit VA this year. These visits were made possible through a gift to the school by an interested parent last year. Mr. Bohlen, who had an extensive career in the foreign service, is very knowledgeable on under President Roosevelt. During World War II, Mr. Bohlen gained his experience as Roosevelt's personal interpreter of Joseph Stalin at the conference at Yalta.

Mr. Bohlen described elements of the post-war era as most critical, and he stated that the fall of the British Empire left a confrontation between two great world powers. Thus, in his view, the elements of this era compelled the U.S. into a direct confrontation with the Soviet Union in all world matters. He ended his speech by discussing

PROGRAMS IN ART HAVE BEEN EXPANDED to include not only studio art work but pottery and, for the first time, jewelry. Gary Milek, an artist and teacher from Langdon, New Hampshire, supervises the art room. Mr. Milek has studied at the Boston Museum School and the Rijkes Academie of the Netherlands, and has taught art in the Hopkins Center at Dartmouth. Peter Sabin of Brattleboro continues to work with boys interested

The photography course was held all three terms, with a full enrollment each time. The course developed each boy's skill according to his experience, so all could benefit. Those who partook were: David Bell and Dick Beers, with advisor Mr. Hewitt. NOT SHOWN: Bates, Frey, Holland, Lehman, Littlefield, Macleay, Marshall, Spencer, Barrows, B. Robertson, A. Stewart, N. MacLeod, Mench, Tibbs, Wilkinson, and S. Campbell.

The Silversmith group learned the basic skills involved in fine metal craft from Mr. Peters. All created some jewelry, and a fine exhibit of their work was presented at the end of the second and third terms. Enrolled were: Braff, Clancy, W. Clark, Donnelly, Eldridge, Griswold, Marshall, Mason, Smith, A. Stewart, Pagenstecher, Wright, T. Thompson, Halsted, Marcoulier, Hawkridge, Miltimore, Nickerson, Sollmann, Henderson, Pike, and McIlvaine.

A small group of boys enrolled in the winter Drama course given by Mr. Cox. The group's efforts were presented to the public with the play "Summertree", which had two very successful performances here in March. The group then went to New York and saw the Broadway version. Shown, are Bates, Hyde, Blanchard, and Stedman. Not shown: Watson, Krafur, and Hunter.

The Fall Trail Crew of about twenty boys, under the supervision of Mr. Chivers and Mr. Butterworth, sweated and toiled as never before to build a new ski tow and trail.

The VA school band, revitalized this year through the efforts of Mr. Jones, enthralled us with performances at the football games and pep rallies. The boys in the band are: Holland, Knowlson, Menz, R. Taylor, Stevens, Crocker, Gold, Gorman, Story, and Henderson.

The VA Cheerleaders, with the Spirit '70 Committee led by Chris Bates, conducted the pep rallies, hung banners and effigies, and hustled the spirit at the games. The cheerleaders were: Bates, Hyde, Griswold, Littlefield, T. Thompson, Blanchard, S. Campbell, Huberth, and Karol.

FALL DRAMA

The Fall Drama group wrote and directed, with advice and help from Mrs. Choukas and Mrs. Cox, their own plays. After a lot of hard creating, works by Ken Watson, Jim Hyde, Chris Bates, Peter Campbell, and David Zimicki were presented. The Clouds by Aristophanes, and starring John Krafur, was shown.

"Huh? . . . Garbage?"

Charles E. Bohlen visits Vermont Academy

"Bohlen was like a relic in the museum—interesting in itself, but not essential to these times."

MORATORIUM

"Reckonizing the right of those who oppose the Vietnam War to express their opinion, the school permitted observation of the October 15th Moratorium. In a statement prepared in anticipation of the day, the policy committee of the Faculty underlined that it was impossible for the school as a whole to take a position for or against the issue, but that as an educational institution it could only welcome free discussion of the question."

—VERMONT ACADEMY LIFE

"I like the way VA handled it, but there weren't enough students involved. For that matter there weren't enough teachers. Maybe they like wars and to see people die. I don't and I feel that it has to be stopped! Our nation must speak out against the war."
